

SEASON REVIEW IN BASKETBALL

STETSON THE LOGICAL INTERCOLLEGIATE CHAMPION OF THE STATE.

White and Green Team Easily Demonstrated the Right to the Title Against All Comers.

So successful has been the basketball season just passed, that it would seem useless to comment upon it. After decisively defeating the best teams in the State it would seem that the Stetson squad should modestly remain silent and let others speak of their glories. The same would also seem true of the college papers. Both squad and paper have done so, awaiting the plaudits of those who were competent to speak of our strength. Instead of so speaking, the schools that were eliminated from state honors by the brilliant playing of Coach Hollander's squad, have either remained silent or have advanced some personal claim for that honor. It is indeed difficult to see any grounds for their claims, but still their advancement of such claims necessitates a review and justification of our own rights to the title.

Owing to the scarcity of college teams in the State our schedule has been varied. We have played Colleges, Academies, town teams and Y. M. C. A.'s. Of all the teams the Jacksonville Y. M. C. A. team is the only team that has the least possible chance of contesting our claims. Only one game was played with these gentlemen. This was the last game on a hard arduous, and for many reasons an extremely tiring trip. At that the game was decided by one basket. Manager Junkin arranged for another game with this team but their management cancelled.

Duval High School is claiming first honors. Just what they base their claims upon it is hard to decide. Three games were arranged with the high school lads and only two were played. The Duval team threw quite a scare in our camp by taking the first game with neatness and dispatch. There was absolutely no excuse to offer. The best team, as they then were, won. The first string men were over confident, out of condition and demoralized. The second string men put up a better game but were unable to head the visitors. This defeat was the best thing that could have happened. Profiting by this rather humiliating lesson the squad went to work seriously. Never again were they a disappointment to the school. The next game, played in Jacksonville, went to the Varsity by a wide margin. The third game was cancelled by the Duval manager.

Keewatin was defeated in two games. The first game played in St. Augustine on an out door court was probably the hardest game of the season. Stetson failed to score from the field in the first half. The second half opened with the score standing 13 to 4 in Keewatin's favor. A rally that lasted throughout the game gave

EUSOPHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Eusophian "Lit" met with an unusually good attendance last Friday evening.

The program for the evening was a most interesting one:

Current Events—Mary Walters. Resume of the Novel "Bambury" by Benton Cook—Mary Sheppard.

Recitation—Laura Belle Pinkerton.

"Society Paper"—Margaret Gilliland.

VARSITY CLUB.

The Varsity Club held a very good meeting last Friday evening. The crowd was good and there was a trace of the much needed "Pep" that used to characterize the club.

Addresses were made by the newly elected officers.

President—Fred Fischer.

Vice President—William C. Emerson.

Secretary and Treasurer—Eugene Bugg.

Program Manager—Charles N. Walker.

Debate: Resolved, That the Citizens of the United States were playing the part of moral cowards in the World War.

Affirmative—Roy Amidon and Paul Northrop.

Negative—Floyd Northrop and Tenny Deane.

The Judges, Messrs. Lofquist, Ziegler and Emerson, decided in favor of the Affirmative.

It is hoped this term to make the Varsity Club a bigger and a better club than ever before. The Club hopes to move into a new club room shortly. An excellent program has been prepared for the Open Meeting scheduled for April 14.

All the young men of the College are invited to attend the meetings and are urged to join the club.

STETSON LITERARY SOCIETY

The first meeting of the Stetson Literary Society this term found the enthusiasts of the society on deck with the slogan, "Here is my best to make the best literary society better."

The program rendered was as follows:—

Stetson Star—Carlisle Prather.

Current Events—Ralph Thompson.

Extempore—Clyatt Lewis.

Reading—Earl Shuffin.

Parliamentary Practice—Earroll Roebuck.

The officers of the Stetson Literary Society for the Spring Term made short addresses.

President—Daniel Leisher.

Vice President—Earl Shuffin.

Secretary—Mary Hulley.

Treasurer—Clyatt Lewis.

Program Managers—Ruth Houston and Harold Cass.

Junior Critic—Earroll Roebuck.

Tony Bates is now convalescing in Lulu, Ga., after having successfully passed through a couple of operations. We all hope—especially an inmate of Chaudoin it is rumored—that Tony will soon be with us again.

COLLEGE PLAY DULY PRESENTED

ONE OF THE LARGEST CROWDS IN SCHOOL HISTORY PRESENT.

Production Showed Long and Arduous Drill on the Part of the Participants.

On Friday night, March 24, the College Play was duly presented. One of the largest houses that Stetson University and DeLand ever turned out for an amateur performance gathered in the Auditorium. A member of the Collegiate force attended. We append the following comments on the members of the caste and their respective renderings of the various roles in the play.

In our opinion the acting of William Wadsworth as Major, and Jean Eggleston as Stasia, were the best of the caste. The movements of Mr. Wadsworth upon the stage were conducted with an ease and naturalness that was pleasing, and his words rang clearly to the back of the hall. Even the gallery lost not a sentence of his part. The role of Stasia, next to those of the Spectator and the Landlady, was the heaviest of the caste. Miss Eggleston carried out this part in a manner that took well with the audience.

The part of the Spectator or the Passer-by was arduous. There was an immense amount of lines in it, and the accompanying gestures and actions had to be deliberate, precise, and studied. This was by far the most difficult role in the play. Mr. Skinner met his task remarkably well.

Next to the Passer-by the part of Mrs. Sharpe, landlady, demanded the most skill. Mona Bates fully and capably met the requirements.

Bessie Gumm made a delightful elderly wife. When our own locks turn gray we wish to have such a wife as she appeared in the final act.

We hate to say that Bryan Jennings is a Jew of the deepest dye, but he played his part so carefully and naturalistically that we now watch the pork plate in Chaudoin when it comes his way.

The love match of Vivian and Penny, the painter, was delightful. Of course we were sorry for the decrepit old bachelor, Howard Hodgden, in the last act when he left the stage alone, for he had enlisted our sympathies, but we welcomed the artistic denouement when Carl Farriss and Mercedes Powell as the young lovers announced their betrothal.

Edwin Gumm, in the role as Harry Larckom, is an entertainer indeed. We liked his manly cheer.

Miss Marjorie Blocker's acting captivated us. The transition from the brazen, be-powdered old maid to the demure, plain-garbed woman, was admirably done.

Miss Florence Jackson as a rich aunt was rich! Her allusions to her royal connections with Sir George Somewhat (we forget the exact name) did much to enliven

VESPER SERVICE.

The Vesper Service Sunday was well attended. The Service opened with a prelude played by Miss Baker. A short musical program followed:

Solo—Miss France Sparber. Chorus, "No Shadows Yonder"—Vesper Choir.

Solo, "Nearer My God to Thee"—Mrs. Bow.

Chorus, "Mighty Jehovah"—Vesper Choir.

Miss Marjorie Blocker favored the audience with a reading.

Dr. Hulley began a series of addresses on the "Tragedy of the Cross." The first of the series was on the subject of the "Sufferings of Christ." In this address Dr. Hulley dwelt on Christ's sufferings before the actual crucifixion.

Y. M. C. A. ELECT OFFICERS.

The Young Men's Christian Association elected officers for next year:

President—Tenny Deane. Vice President—William C. Emerson.

Secretary—John Zeigler. Treasurer—Roy Amidon.

It is hoped that next year more interest will be taken in the Y. M. C. A. work and that more young men will affiliate themselves with the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. movement.

KENT CLUB.

The lawyer's literary society weathered a rather stormy gale at their last meeting. The question of the validity of elections came up and occupied the entire evening. The society resolved itself into a committee as a whole with Mr. Donovan in the chair. Every one present had a fine opportunity to grow eloquent on "principles" or to bring up fine spun technicalities.

The election was finally declared null and void. The old officers will hold over until a new constitution can be adopted or the old one amended to suit present conditions.

The entire procedure was rather embarrassing. However it was a clear case of honest error and will doubtless prove beneficial to the organization in the end.

PI PHI HOUSE PARTY.

The Pi Beta Phi Fraternity girls are enjoying a house party this week end. The young ladies are receiving their many friends at the old Walker place. Saturday morning the fraternity is giving an open house. Judging from past years all who visit the Walker cottage are assured of a good time.

Prof. Smith was rather severely injured Thursday afternoon. The Dean was standing in front of the stand just before the game when one of the Jacksonville players uncorked a wild peg. The ball struck the Dean directly in the ear. He was taken to a doctor immediately and the wound dressed. There was much worry concerning the seriousness of the injury but the Dean appeared on the platform Friday morning looking as cheerful as ever.

BROOKLYN SERIES ENDS IN GLORY

VARSITY GIVES BROOKLYN LEAGUERS A REAL BATTLE.

Game Repeatedly Tied By Sensational Stick Work On The Part of Local Crew.

In the last game of the Brooklyn series the Varsity came into its own with a vengeance. The Superbas were battled to a finish. In fact the exhibition put up by the squad against such odds was truly remarkable.

Brooklyn started things by driving three across in the first inning. In the third inning things started to get cloudy but a lightning double play put a quietus on the visitors chances for another round.

The Varsity, nothing daunted, came back strong in their part of the third and succeeded in shoving three runners across the platter.

In the fourth Gardiner was safe on a wild peg and scored on a hard hit ball by Bradley.

Brooklyn scored in the fifth but the score was again tied when Fagg doubled and scored when Hollander followed suit. In the seventh the visitors again took the lead but the Varsity again succeeded in tying things up. A catch by one Bill Gardiner in this inning was one of the prettiest sights of the game.

Neither side scored in the eighth but in the ninth the leaguers piled up three more. There was a misunderstanding, lack of obedience to signals, or the signal was not seen, and etc. At least after two men were on bases (which shouldn't have been there) the infield twice played in on a signal for a waste ball and in both cases a Brooklyn batter connected. Palmer took exceptions to a reprimand from the coach and quit. Fagg finished the game. Goodbread and Colwell worked for the visitors while Palmer pitched for the Varsity. Palmer deserves great credit for he certainly pitched a masterful game. The stars with the stick were Hollander, Fagg and Burdick.

GAME BY INNINGS.

First Inning.

Hickman got a pass. Olson hit for two bases scoring Hickman. Mowrey flew out to right field. Getz singled, scoring Olson. Miller grounded forcing Getz out at second. McCarthy singled scoring Miller.

STETSON—Burdick fanned, Fagg fanned, Hollander flew out to left field. No runs, no hits.

Second Inning.

Mails got a free pass. Goodbread grounded forcing Mails out at second. Hickman fanned. Olson flew out to shortstop. No runs, no hits.

STETSON—Palmer walked. Lourcy grounded out to first. Gardiner grounded out to shortstop. Bradley grounded out to second. No runs, no hits.

Third Inning.

Mowrey walked. Getz grounded to shortstop, Mowrey out at second, Getz out at first. Miller

ON THE COLLEGE PLAY.

We consider the Collegiate an organ of speech. Its purpose is to express the sentiments of the school and to help formulate those sentiments. Our duties in part are to wander about the campus and catch those evanescent shreds of public opinion that fly abroad, and bring them down to the concrete in the form of printer's ink.

We have wandered around the campus this week with a purpose. We have wandered down town with a purpose. We desired to answer a question faithfully. The question had been asked of us from various quarters. We read the two down town newspapers. We could find no assistance there; they evaded and their columns were remarkably silent. We could find but two lines of specific comment. (And that was "bull"). Witness our more artistic efforts on another page.) We pondered. There must be a cause for such reluctant publicity. We searched out the cause. We give our formulated observations below.

We wish to sound a warning. We think it not ill timed. Our duty presses upon us.

It behooves us to comment on the College Play.

We think it best to start simply and make a bare-faced statement. Nobody will deny the following. The College Play has happened. It highly reminded us of one of the continued stories that you find in the magazines—at least the length of it did. We wondered when it was going to end. It lasted from 8 o'clock sharp till 10:30. There were two intermissions of five minutes each, filled with good music; we enjoyed the intermissions. We honestly believe that the play was long enough to tire any audience unless the caste were of the highest professional rank. College theatricals, which are of course totally amateur, should limit themselves to lighter productions. The Green Room Club hitched their wagon to a star when they decided to stage The Passing of the Third Floor Back. It is needless to say that they did not reach the star. Only the skill of Forbes Robertson himself would have made a success out of this play.

Financially the play was evidently a success. It had been carefully and thoroughly advertised. The auditorium was filled with the largest crowd we have ever seen out to a college dramatic performance.

We will now turn to comments on the individual actors. We have no adverse criticism to make at this point. Here we see the result of much painstaking work and unremitting drill. We admire the earnestness of purpose displayed and the effort expended. The play presents a high moral principle and its staging can have no other effect than elevating. We pay our due respects to all the players.

The above are our opinions editorially. We wished to express our sentiments concerning an activity that cries for explicit comment. We have also in another column of this issue (in the news section) given the usual write-up that as a rule is accorded to college plays by collegiate publications. We respectfully dedicate both these articles to The Passing of the Third Floor Back, which we hope has by now succeeded in "Passing" to the archives of history, where finality always rests.

ALUMNI GREETINGS.

Here is an interesting extract from a letter from one of our older Alumnae. It might prove of value to those of us who are musical enthusiasts:

"New York City has the reputation of being cold and critical toward musical artists, and undemonstrative. But all classes and conditions of people surrender to true genius, and I wish all music lovers could have heard Paderewski and the Damrosch Symphony orchestra when they gave a concert for the benefit of the Polish War Relief Fund last week. Paderewski held a packed house spell bound and when the concert was over nobody would go home. They stormed and stormed the house with applause and made the great pianist come out so many times that finally they won their point; he came out and sat down at the piano to play some more, although he had already played for two and a quarter hours! I have seen ovations, but I never saw any so genuine.

HURRAH FOR THE STETSON LIT!

Cesar's famous curt message, "I came, I saw, I conquered," is partly apropos of the Stetson Literary Society's contest with the representatives of the Duval High School of Jacksonville, except they would say, "We."

No one, who knew the inside workings of this agreement had really any great hope that our boys would win. Two of the judges were named by the Duval team, and only one by the Stetson side. All three resided in Jacksonville. But fate or some other power equally propitious gave the Lit boys three men that had the power of their convictions, men who would judge a contest on its merits, altogether apart from partisan spirit. They were Judge Gibbs, of the Circuit Court, Fred Botts, Stetson Attorney, and Mr. Joseph, the City Librarian.

A goodly house greeted the contestants. Interest was high. It was plain to see, all through the debate, that the Duval team anticipated an easy victory and that the audience fully expected them to win. And when the Duval team, well coached in form, made their appearance one after another, till all had spoken, in comparison with our Stetson team they DID have the form, no mistake about it; their arguments were, however, as weak as their form was good. And the judges went in for argument.

Our boys had canvassed the subject from every conceivable standpoint, and when a new point was made by their opponents, were ready to meet it when their turn came to speak. It must be added, too, that our boys had trained with the idea that they were to have the last rebuttal. Duval desired it, and claimed a right and ruling; the matter, left to the judges, was decided in their favor so the Lit boys acquiesced with good grace. The Duval team generously allowed every speaker after the first, on each side, to have thirteen and one half minutes, tho the agreement had been for 12 minutes each. This upon request by Stetson debaters.

When Judge Gibbs reappeared, after the conference of the judges, and said, "I hope you are good sports. The enemy has invaded our camp and carried off the victory," you could have heard a pin drop; surprise seemed to have made the audience dumb, so sure were they of a Duval victory. But soon our turn came and a rousing shout answered the decision. Given the form of the opposing team, our team with its argument, would be well-nigh invincible. The judges were unanimous. Two of them were convinced the moment they heard the last word; one of them was for Stetson also till the last rebuttal, by Burlack, of Duval team, but this was a dying effort to save a lost cause! The other two judges very soon convinced the one indecisive judge, that there was really no grounds for changing his opinion, and so the verdict was made unanimous. It was a fine fight and a splendid victory, all the more so, because it was so clearly an incontestable one.

This makes three consecutive victories for the Stetson Lit boys, two this year and one last year. We trust these victories will not make them too sure of themselves, and so lead the way to defeat! The interesting thing about these three victories is that all three have been unanimous decisions of the judges. We surely wish that all lovers of the Green and White could have seen and heard this fine contest.

Care was taken that the Duval team and the Jacksonville audience were set right about the grade of the speakers from Stetson. They had thought all along, that the Stetson Lit meant College boys, and so Professor Baldwin took occasion to have the chairman of the evening make the correction, in his opening speech, stating clearly and unmistakably that the Stetson boys were Academy boys, not College, and therefore of about the same grade and age as their opponents.

Our boys need to work for form now, and also to keep their argumentative power. This Commencement the Lit will lose five out of the six debaters of this year.

SIGMA NU DANCE.

Another impromptu dance was enjoyed by the Sigma Nu boys last Wednesday evening. The dance was in the chapter house about a dozen couples being present. Ice cream was served. Mrs. Adney kindly assisted as chaperone.

Paul M. Wheeler, an old Stetson man now teaching in the New York City High School, writes us that the following Stetson Alumni are now in that city: Messrs. Goodchild, Ely, Hugh, Murphy, Churchill Gout, and Miss Zoe Simonot. They should form a Stetson Club.

Dr. Hanna has joined the Boy Scouts. At least it is rumored that Doc is doing some fine scouting.

the Varsity the victory by two points, 19 to 17. The second game was an easy victory for the Green and White.

Southern College played us two games. The Collegians were clearly out classed at every stage of both games. The weakest combination of the second and third string men seemed to have no difficulty in handling the South Florida boys.

Orlando was completely out-classed, and frankly admitted it. The manager of the Orlando team cancelled all other games with the Varsity and sought easier opponents.

Keewatin defeated the State University team in two hard fought battles and it is scarcely likely that Florida will contest our claims to the State Championship.

Many other teams were played and defeated but these are the only possible rivals for the bunting.

The season's schedule was as follows:—

- Nov. 20—Stetson 42, Sanford 13.
Nov. 26—Stetson 22, Sanford 5.
Dec. 3—Stetson 26, Orlando 7.
Dec. 4—Stetson 38, New Smyrna 2.
Jan. 15—Stetson 60, Eustis 14.
Jan. 22—Stetson 25, Duval 31.
Jan. 25—Stetson 59, Florida School of Mutes 17.
Jan. 26—Stetson 19—Keewatin 17.
Jan. 27—Stetson 32—Jacksonville Y. M. C. A. 34.
Jan. 28—Stetson 44, Duval 25.
Feb. 1—Stetson 61, New Smyrna 10.
Feb. 7—Stetson 62, Eustis 13.

Mr. Clayton Codrington, lately advertising manager of the DeLand Daily News, has resigned his position with the News Publishing Company, and is now registered and taking law in the University. We welcome Mr. Codrington to our midst. He has long been interested in everything that stood for Stetson, so we can scarcely regard him as a new comer.

Orville E. Fuller left school Wednesday night for Illinois. Fuller has been taking law during the past two terms and intends to register up again in September.

SENIOR-JUNIOR vs. FRESHMEN.

The initial class game of the season was played Wednesday.

Promptly at 3:30 Fagg and Dean Smith as umps called the game. Both sides were out for blood and a desperate encounter was expected. Northrop and Liddell worked for the upper classmen while Hon and Crim were the battery for the first year combination.

The S.J.'s scored in the first inning but the Freshmen evened up in the third. In the fourth the freshmen again proceeded to get busy and annexed another, but the Senior-Junior wrecking crew not to be out done staged a rally that ended with the score being two all.

The game went ten innings but neither side was able to score during the remaining five. Brilliant fielding shut off every chance. (?)

Northrop for the Senior-Juniors struck out twenty-three men. Hon struck out but thirteen of the upper classmen but he invariably tightened up in the pinches.

This write up would be lacking if "Casey" Longstreet and "Anson" Fischer left and center fielder respectively for the S.J.' were not mentioned. Both of these old-timers seem to have lost their eye. "Casey" apologizes for being on the line up. It seems that choice had to be made between Longstreet and Pattishall and the Senior and Junior class had a closed session. Longstreet finally won out by trickery. It was pointed out that "Casey" could "cuss out" the freshies more frequently than could his rival. "Pop Anson" Fischer is suffering much perturbation of the mind because of a wild peg over third which gave the freshmen their first run.

Raymond Baker is back in Conrad Hall again. Baker could not leave the gaiety of the East Coast during the winter term but now that that is passed we can possibly persuade him to remain with us.
